Quick Response Time Noted in Two Recent Fires

By Alec Belisle

MILLBURY - On Sunday, February 18, Millbury firefighters responded to a 3:30 a.m. fire at the home of Ed and Candy Gauthier of 35 Elm Court. Members of all units responded to the call in below freezing temperatures. According to 4th Assistant Chief Phil Day, the cause of the fire is still being determined. Day said it took firefighters less than 45 minutes to extinguish the fire which caused an estimated $5,000 in damage. Day said that because of the quick response and training of the units, more extensive damage was avoided.

As most residents were on their way to work, firefighters responded to a "working fire" call at the home of John and Marion Giedrys of 17 Washington Street on Thursday, February 22. According to Fire Chief Thomas Nault, extensive fire, smoke, and heat damage resulted from the fire that began as the result of careless use of smoking materials. Four people were home at the time, but no one was injured in the blaze.

Although it took only about 15 minutes to control the fire, complications arose when firefighters discovered a gas leak and were forced to vacate the building. According to Nault, the heat from the fire melted a metal plug at the gas meter, allowing gas to escape from the pipe. Assistant Chief Phil Day, who was in the vicinity of the leak, explained that an explosion was averted because firefighters had begun ventilation procedures.

Nault praised his men for their fast response time. "The alarm came in at 7:58 a.m. The first engine company responded at 8:01 and arrived at the scene at 8:03. The men couldn't have done a better job responding if they had been at the station," Nault said.

ZBA Hangs Tough Over 37 Elm Street Property

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - The February 14 Zoning Board of Appeals meeting began at 7:00 p.m. with Chairman Richard Valentino opening a public hearing on a petition from Louis Fantasia for a variance relating to a small building on Wales Street which does not meet the side lot line requirement. Attorney Peter Keenan, representing the petitioner, informed the board that his client was withdrawing the petition as he plans to move the shed. Keenan also said that Fantasia plans to post speed limits of 20 m.p.h. on Wales Street.

The petition was withdrawn without prejudice.

37 Elm Street

At 8:00 p.m., a continuation of a January 30 public hearing for property at 37 Elm Street was held with the petitioner, Steven Venincasa of Casa Builders. At the last meeting, the ZBA asked for four pieces of information that were not presented in writing at the January 30 hearing: 1. a complete set of plans; 2. a letter from the Conservation Commission; 3. a letter from the Fire Department; and 4. a lease for the additional parking spaces needed.

Casa Builders is seeking a special permit to construct an addition with a wood frame at 37 Elm Street to include a three-car garage, office space for the owner's use, and four, one-bedroom apartments. The exterior shell for the addition has already been completed. Work was stopped following the issuance of a Cease and Desist order by the Building Inspector because the addition did not conform to the original plans submitted for the building permit.

Venincasa presented a floor plan for the addition which was reviewed by board members.

Another area of concern expressed at the last hearing by Planning Board Chairwoman Anna Lewandowski dealt with parking in the rear of the building and the possibility of adverse effects on the Blackstone River which flows behind the property. The ZBA had asked for a letter from the Conservation Commission.

Venincasa said he spoke with Conservation Commission Chairman Richard Luikey on February 7 and was told that conservation committee approval would be required if, in the future, the parking area was to be repaved. Venincasa said no filing would be required at this time since he does not propose to repave the area.

With regard to the letter from the Fire Chief, Venincasa said that the Chief sent a letter indicating that an alarm system to conform to fire codes would be required.

Venincasa said that the lease for additional parking had not been finalized yet. At the January 31 public hearing, Attorney Sam DeSimone, representing Casa Builders, told the board that his clients were negotiating with A&D Pizza to lease parking spaces.

We The People...

Vote for the Man, Not the Party

To the Editor:

Change is hard to come by. Change is unsettling, uncomfortable, threatening, in the sense that in order to accomplish change, I must act, get involved, work to accomplish change.

I'm too busy, too rushed, too harried, too worried about the mortgage payment, car payment, property taxes, income taxes, excise taxes, sewer taxes. Fees (taxes) from the Registry, Turnpike Authority, court filing fees, license fees, deed fees. Higher fees (taxes) for building permits, landfill use, Federal income tax, higher Social Security tax, gasoline taxes, taxes on the interest of my meager savings. Increased tuition, medical fees, cable fees. Proposed increases in electric, telephone, auto insurance bills. The cost of home heating oil.

Change? Why? I'm living in the "Miracle State." Governed with competence, don't you know?

So I trudge along, work every day, pay my taxes, do the best I can. Why then, am I called mean-spirited by the House Speaker when I ask for no new taxes until the fat is cut? Why then, am I threatened by our Governor, the author of the "Massachusetts Miracle" (a work of pure fiction), with layoffs, cuts in town services, cuts in vital human services? All designed to make me feel guilty, frightened, and cry, "Please raise my taxes."

Why try to lay a guilt trip on me for your mistakes, political ambitions, and, yes, deception?

For most of my life I was a member of the majority party in this state, the party of the people I was taught, the working people I was taught, the party with a heart I was taught, and I believed. But no more. I still have the heart, but I don't have the money.

I don't have the money for the Doorkeepers.
I don't have the money for Billy Bulger's new office.
I don't have the money for the Legislative Research Bureau.

I don't have the money for your pay raises.
I don't have the money for your trips to the Superbowl.

I don't have the money for your Hynes Convention Center.

I don't have the money for Boston's depression of the Central Artery.

I don't have the money for the New Braintree prison.
I don't have the money for the North Adams Art Museum.

I don't have the money for the Mass. Maritime Academy.

I don't have the money for the refurbishing of the battleship Massachusetts.

I don't have the money for your trips to the Governor's conferences.

I don't have the money for welfare to illegal aliens.

Eliminate these outrages and I am willing to pay more in taxes for those human services you purport to represent.

Change? Yes, I'll change. Because not to change now is more unsettling, more uncomfortable, and more threatening. Hereafter, I will vote the man, not the party, in this state.

And that man will answer to me and not the party.

It's called freedom.

Will Not Sign Charter

To the Editor:

I feel that it is incumbent upon me to explain the reasons why my signature will not appear on the proposed charter as presented by the Millbury Charter Commission. As you know, I am a proponent of a recall provision being included in the proposed charter. Recall, in essence, is the removal of a public officer prior to the expiration of the term for which he or she was elected. This feature, in any charter, allows for a more direct participation in public affairs by citizens. It fosters a better informed citizenry for public officials must take pains to explain more fully the reasons for governmental action before it is initiated, and public officials must be more responsive to popular opinion at all times rather than at election time.

In order for you to understand my position more fully, it will be necessary to apprise you of the events which took place at the Charter Commission meetings held on February 12 and 14. At the February 12 meeting, approximately 12 citizens of the town were in attendance. Five voiced their opinions that recall (none of the others opposed recall) should be a feature of the proposed charter and that the Commission should find an option that would allow the voters of the town to decide this issue. After the citizens left the meeting, Commission member Gerald Bleau, an opponent of recall, made a motion to reconsider recall. It was seconded. The motion to reconsider recall was carried by an affirmative vote of the Commission. Robert Brainard, Chairman, asked Mr. Michael Curran, Charter Commission advisor, if a recall question could be listed separately on the ballot so that all the voters would have an opportunity to decide if it should be part of the charter. Mr. Curran indicated that it could be done, but it would only be instituted by an affirmative vote if the Charter was passed. Then Gerald Bleau made a motion to consider including a separate amendment for recall on the ballot for the annual town election on April 24. The motion was seconded and the vote was unanimous. I was delegated by the chair to prepare a recall provision for Mr. Curran so he could formalize it for the next commission meeting to be held on February 14. This was to be the last meeting prior to submitting the proposed charter to the Board of Selectmen on February 20.

At the February 14 meeting, after some discussion, a motion was made to have the recall provision placed separately on the ballot for the annual town election on April 24. The motion was seconded. A roll call vote was taken with the following results: Yes - Sylvio Bourdeau, Karen Kenary, Francis King and Harold Ostrowski; No - Gerald Bleau, Robert Brainard, Terry Hamilton, Wayne Sclar and Robert Sullivan. The motion failed.

Undoubtedly you must have the same questions in your mind that I have concerning the above events. What logical reason or reasons could those members of the Charter Commission, who opposed recall, possibly have in their minds which would justify negating the right of 6,576 registered voters to express their preference on this important issue? Do the above events appear to be a double-cross or sort of a planned massacre of those commission members and citizens who wish to have

Millbury Selectmen's Meeting Digest

Selectmen Discuss Downtown Parking Requirements

By Alec Belisle

MILLBURY - The February 20 Millbury Selectmen's meeting was called to order by Chairman Jude Cristo at 7:00 p.m. with board members Roland Lachance, John Donnelly and Donald Gauthier in attendance.

Important Dates

Cristo announced that Tuesday, April 24, is the date for the Annual Town Elections and Tuesday, May 1, is the date of the Annual Town Meeting.

Increase Requested

Administrative Assistant Earl Chase informed the board that the Blackstone Valley Regional School District has asked for an increase amounting to about $9,000, or 5% over last year's figure. It was noted that Millbury has the second largest number of students attending Blackstone Valley Tech, approximately 105.

Executive Session

At 7:30, Police Chief Ronald Stokowski met with the board and asked to convene under executive session. On a voice vote, the board voted to meet under sub-section 4 of the open meeting law to discuss the deployment of security personnel.

Wine and Beer License

The board reconvened in open session to consider granting a beer and wine license to Milton Wynja, the owner of Frank's Variety, the former Lemay's Market, located on Millbury Avenue. Wynja owns two other variety stores, one in Whitinsville and one in Wilkinsons, both of which have beer and wine licenses.

Speaking in opposition to the petition was Paul Watts of Shore Terrace. Watts said there was no need to have two establishments on Millbury Avenue selling beer and wine.

He also told the board that Lemay's Market was the scene of some vandalism in the past, which he said frightened area residents. He acknowledged that police presence at the site could not be expected at all times and said that minors who are refused alcohol return to throw eggs and... at the building.

Wynja said he was unaware of any trouble at the location and explained that he has installed an alarm system.

The board voted unanimously to grant the license.

Proposed Town Charter

Charter Commission Chairman Robert Brainard and Vice-Chairwoman Terry Hamilton presented the selectmen with a copy of the revised charter draft. Brainard explained that after the public hearing and meetings which the commission conducted following the publication of the preliminary draft, two changes were made: to make the positions of town clerk and the board of assessors appointed rather than elected and to keep the Housing Authority and the Redevelopment Authority separate committees.

Hamilton noted that the commission must distribute the finalized charter to each registered voter two weeks prior to the town election.

Lachance commended the commission on the work it had done to produce a charter and said he would support their efforts.

Transfer Station

Under "Old Business," Cristo asked Chase if he had checked with the Board of Health to see if they propose to buy their own vehicles to haul refuse from the transfer station or go out to bid on the hauling. Chase said they would be going out to bid.

"We (the town) don't want to get into the trucking business," Donnelly commented.

Cristo agreed adding, "Nobody's told this board officially what the plans are going to be once we get the station open. How is it going to be operated?" he asked.

"According to the Board of Health Chairman (Jim Dwinell)," Gauthier said, "when the transfer station opens, they will be ready (to operate)."

Chase explained that the town has approval from the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) to open the station. He also said that DEP has no problem with any type of toilet facility whether chemical or incinerator. The town is now waiting to get a variance for a toilet facility which they expect to have by the beginning of March.

"Once we get that variance," Cristo said, "we can issue the occupancy permit, so we can hopefully go in the first or second week in March if the board of health has their part of it ready to go."

"It comes back to the same question I asked months ago," Lachance said. "What is the role of the selectmen and what is the role of the board of health in running the transfer station? I'm sure the board of health has the health aspect of it, but the actual operation of the transfer station, who has the jurisdiction to run the transfer station per se?"

"It isn't spelled out anywhere," Chase replied.

"When are we going to determine how it's spelled out?" Lachance asked, to which there was no reply.

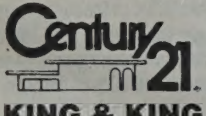

Downtown Parking

Cristo brought up a concern which arose from information obtained in a Chronicle article dealing with ZBA hearings for property at 19 North Main Street owned by MJ Casa Development Trust of Sutton and property at 37 Elm Street, owned by Casa Builders and Developers.

Of concern to Cristo was the parking question. He noted that Michael Venincasa, Trustee of MJ Casa, had stated that he hoped that the town would grant relief for the balance of their parking needs at 19 North Main Street by letting them use the Wellington municipal parking lot. Cristo said it was his opinion that the authority for the use of the parking lot lies with the board of selectmen.

Chase said the ZBA did not vote to approve the use of the municipal parking lot as relief but rather has remanded the petitioner to the planning board where he must seek a Site Plan Review and a Special permit.

Cristo then mentioned the Elm Street location which, he said, proposed to seek relief of its parking obligation by leasing parking space from A&D Pizza to meet the requirements. "I'm personally opposed to doing that," he said. "because that's only for a finite period of time."

Donnelly asked what would happen if a new owner purchased the premises and denied Venincasa the use of the lot. "Now we've got all these cars parked in the street," he said.

"If you're buying a building and you're going to make changes to that building and need 'X' amount of parking spaces, if you don't own the land or you don't have access to the central parking lot in the business district, as the by-law states, I don't know how the heck you can lease it from a private individual," Cristo said. "Unless there's a 99 year lease, if the parking goes the place doesn't conform anymore."

"If you don't have the parking or if you're not within the required number of feet of the municipal lot," Cristo continued, "you shouldn't be allowed to lease it (parking). If we don't have a by-law to that effect, maybe we should."

"If Venincasa is thinking he's going to use the town parking lot to let these people park nights," Donnelly said, "after a while these people will think they own the spots."

Cristo then said, "I would hope that the Zoning Board of Appeals and the Planning Board are aware that they can't give out those parking spaces without any interaction with this board. I think they are."

Donnelly then brought up a situation that exists in the municipal lot behind the Library. He said that since the area was paved, an individual has removed part of the fence and created a driveway in back of his residence without the permission of the selectmen. "That fence should be put back up there," he said.

Cristo asked Chase to investigate.

Center School Roof

Cristo stated that Chief Stokowski spotted a hole in the roof of the Center School as he was travelling along Rt. 146. Chase said he spoke to a representative from McKay Roofing who informed him that emergency repairs had to be made to stop the leaks. Chase said he was told that long range work was needed but that it would take approximately $2,000 for temporary repairs.

Old Business

Under "Old Business," Lachance brought up three items. He asked about the status of the department of Public Works. Donnelly commented that the project was starting to move but that matters were presently at a standstill.

Lachance then asked why the "No Parking" signs that the board voted for the easterly side of Rhodes Street last fall were not up. Chase said he will check on it.

Lachance noted that tractor trailers are still being parked on the sidewalk at Cesyl Mills. "When are we going to get together with that guy and with Joe Chase (Highway Surveyor) and get that sidewalk fixed?" he asked.

Tree Warden

Because of concerns brought up regarding the removal of fallen trees and branches during the recent ice storm, the board decided to request the presence of Tree Warden William Berthiaume at the next meeting.

Video Games

The board heard a petition from Eric Nordstrom of Sudz City, 110 Elm Street, to install two video games at the laundry.

Donnelly said he had a problem with children having access to them.

A motion to approve the two video games was passed on a 3-1 vote with Donnelly opposed.

Students Attend Play

SUTTON - On Thursday, February 15, members of Michael Hood's sophomore English class at Sutton Memorial Jr.-Sr. High School attended an imaginative and contemporary version of Shakespeare's classic political play, Julius Caesar.

The political drama, presented by members of the Trinity Repertory Company, Providence, Rhode Island, included contemporary garb such as suits, ties, and fedoras. The setting was also contemporary - Washington, D.C., 1962 - the Kennedy administration background and political unrest.

MILLBURY - Girl Scouts gathered at the Millbury Federated Church to celebrate "Thinking Day" on Thursday, February 22. This is a time set aside to reflect on what it means to be a girl scout. It is also a time to think about girl scouts around the world. As part of their special activities, the scouts made friendship bracelets which they will exchange with girl scouts from a troop in Indiana.

From My Window on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

Fanny Crosby was a poetess whose poems became many of the hymns and gospel songs sung in our churches today. I would classify her as one of our "Protestant Saints." She renounced great profits that were realized from her works and lived in the midst of common people in order to minister to them.

The poems that she wrote and were later put to music were about salvation and deliverance from sin. They were at first used mostly in rescue missions and Sunday schools and for the YMCA of her day, and are still used today as then by evangelists in their evangelistic campaigns.

Blinded at birth, she lived a most exciting life. One of her first poems would say, "weep or sigh because I'm blind, I cannot - nor I won't." Her mind was very alert and she could recite from memory large portions of the Bible and other great works. Poems would come to her during the night, and the next morning she would repeat them to be written down.

Probably her best known gospel song is "Blessed Assurance," but there was also "Rescue the Perishing," "To God Be the Glory," "Redeemed," "I Am Thine, O Lord," and many more. We will be singing her songs and presenting her story at the Millbury Baptist Church on Sunday evening, March 4, at 6:00 p.m. We invite you to come and join us for a great evening of hymn singing. Amen.

Tuesday, March 27. Works will remain on display until April 7. A reception hosted by the Friends will be held on March 27 between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. Entries included in this exhibit can be picked up starting April 10. Entries not included in the show can be picked up starting March 27. For more information, call 865-1181.

Parents Anonymous

A new chapter of Parents Anonymous is ready to begin in Worcester. Parents who are looking for support while exploring different ways of nurturing and disciplining their children are invited to join. Through self-help support groups, PA enables people to develop relationships with their children that are more loving and fulfilling, less angry and tense.

This third Worcester group will meet weekly on Tuesday evenings under the guidance of two caring, trained volunteers who have strong backgrounds in parenting, group process, and self-help support. All meetings are free and confidential. Groups are on-going, allowing the opportunity to join at any time.

Parents who are under stress and having difficulty with their children are especially encouraged to do something nice for themselves and their families by calling 1-800-882-1250 for more information.

Assumption School News

By Grace Laflash

Freedom Train was performed at Mechanics Hall by the drama group THEATREWORKS USA of New York. Denise Sliwoski's 6th grade and Grace Laflash's 5th grade attended the performance.

Through dance, dialogue, mime, and period music, the story of Harriet Tubman unfolded - her life as a slave, her daring escape from a plantation in Maryland, and the cunning and courage she displayed in returning to the South nineteen times to bring over 300 blacks to the "Promised Land." Her people called her General Moses.

Hat became part of the Underground Railroad system, that clandestine group which abetted the runaways. She knew where the hollowed out haystacks were to be found, potato holes, which chimneys sported one white brick on each of the four sides, indicating a temporary haven of refuge, a meal and some relaxing sleep before traveling to the next stop.

Back in the class, post drama discussion prompted the thought that Harriet and company may possibly have been sheltered in the garret of the Asa Waters II Mansion or in the secret hiding place under the stairway of Dr. Jewett's stately dwelling on Park Hill or in the root cellar of the house across the street.

Another Point of View

Are We Losing World War III?

Third of a Series

By Lawrence Moore

The days around the Presidents' Day weekend were not unusual. We had some good weather, and we had some bad weather. The media reported the usual acts of mayhem, fires, accidents and sports. If you were looking for it, you could also find reports of the continuing battles of WWII, mainly in the pages of last week's Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday editions of the Wall Street Journal, from which much of the following information was obtained.

Even the cartoons are reflecting the seriousness of the challenge. A man is depicted in the Wall Street Journal leaving his home in the morning. His wife is telling a friend that he had "The Great American Dream" the night before and that he's now on his way to seek Japanese financing.

Recently the Japanese Government commissioned a poll to get a fix on American feelings about their American in-roads. Apparently the Japanese Government and their people are much more aware that there is a problem than is our own Government. Forty-four percent of the people said Japanese investment was bad for us, while only 27% thought it was good. Another 15% said they had mixed feelings, although many responded that they felt the Japanese were being good community citizens wherever they located.

As some of you may know, we are in the midst of continuing negotiations with Japan over trade policies. Based on a statement in the Wall Street Journal by our Trade Representative, Carla Hills, "It's in Japan's hands to destroy the system that has given all of our economic prosperity unless they open their markets." It becomes apparent, at least to me, that we have no realization that it is Japan's intent to destroy the present balance. An indication of that is the response of one of the MITI officials who said, "I think the situation between Japan and the United States will get worse." Apparently Japan is going to adopt a dilatory, evasive and uncooperative attitude in these negotiations as they have in the past. That conclusion is based on many years of Japanese promises, unfortunately accompanied only by a continued erosion of trade relations and the fear that any negotiation success would be cosmetic only, without transforming the basic policies that the United States finds unfair.

It is interesting to note that in the past two years, General Motors has closed six plants and Chrysler has closed two, while the Japanese have opened or joint-ventured exactly the same number. We opened one new plant in the same period. Japanese sales of cars in America amounted to 26% of the total United States auto sales in 1989. Currently, Japanese plants in America produce 22% of the automobiles built in America, a 53% increase over last year. Predictions are that during the 1990's in both America and in the World, Japan will make and sell more cars than will the United States.

The next problem to surface is a report that the Internal Revenue Service is investigating hundreds of U.S. subsidiaries of foreign companies because they may have under-paid U.S. income taxes by billions of dollars. They report that while foreign investment in the United States has increased, tax bills have not. According to a report in the New York Times, IRS officials believe underpayment in the past 10 years could amount to $12 billion. The IRS suspects that United States subsidiaries of Japanese firms are paying excessively high prices to Japan for supplies, thereby keeping their costs high and their profits low. This is a direct violation of U.S. tax law.

In the burgeoning field of data communications, Nippon Telephone & Telegraph (NTT), through a subsidiary, has set up a business to compete with AT&T, Electronic Data Systems and U.S. Sprint in providing Japanese customers with data transmission facilities along with their phone systems. NTT Data, the American subsidiary of NTT, in 1989 did $2.7 billion of business and is preparing now to challenge American Data Transmission Companies for business among purely American companies. Several other large communications firms in Japan have also invaded the American market. While American companies have tried to establish a foothold in Japan, it has been almost impossible to attract corporate customers and to meet the stringent technical specifications Japan uses to keep out foreign competition. The NTT company has gone so far as to set up Delaware Corporations that enable it to skirt Japanese law regarding overseas business.

The high tech metal industry which experts expect to develop into a billion dollar a year business by the end of the decade and which has been pioneered by Allied-Signal, Inc. in the United States is the area of another battle. These materials are called amorphous metal alloys, which Allied-Signal markets under the name of Metglas. These high-tech metals are used in electric transformers, aero-space applications and other areas. Allied-Signal has been trying to break into the Japanese market for 11 years and responses to Allied's complaints have been met with the usual Japanese double-talk. During these 11 years, Allied claims Japan has set up and financed over 30 companies to develop competitive products.

National Corridor Plan Sent to Washington for Approval

UXBRIDGE - The plan for the Blackstone River Valley National Heritage Corridor has been sent to the Secretary of the Interior in Washington D.C. for approval. The U.S. Congress directed the Commission to develop the "Cultural Heritage and Land Management Plan" as its first act, and directed the Secretary of the Interior and the governors of Rhode Island and Massachusetts to approve it if it meets congressional objectives for the National Heritage Corridor. The plan lays out actions and strategies needed to protect the historic and natural resources in the Valley and to encourage residents and visitors to understand how important the region was to the development of the United States. A clearly delighted Richard T. Moore, Chairman of the Commission, signed the letters to the governors and the Secretary of the Interior in Patucket, R.I. at a commission meeting. "Two hundred years ago," Moore said, "the American Industrial Revolution began in the Blackstone Valley right here at Slater's Mill. What better place for us to begin our work to implement our plan to recognize and protect the Blackstone Valley."

Once the plan is approved by Secretary
Manuel Lujan and Governors DiPrete and Dukakis, the commission is authorized to start work to accomplish Congress' goals for the Corridor. During the planing process, the Commission received an overwhelming public response. Over 2,000 people took part in planning activities or sent in their ideas for the future of the Valley. "We got a lot of help from the towns, cities, and business people of the Valley as well," Moore said.

Arts Lottery Grant Funds
Available

SUTTON - A performance of "Hansel and Gretel" by the Connecticut Opera on Tour will be sponsored by the Sutton Arts Council this year with a Massachusetts Arts Lottery grant. Other grant recipients in the fall cycle were the Sutton Country Squares for beginners' square dancing lessons and the Sutton Council on Aging for various activities, including a St. Patrick's Day performance of the Rinky Tinks. A Performing Arts Students Series
(PASS) grant was received by the Sutton Elementary School sixth grade to attend a performance of the Boston Ballet.

The purpose of these grants is to enrich the community with quality art work, programs, and events; encourage local artists; and to provide school children with first-hand experience in music, drama, or art in a theater or museum.

Applications for the 1990 spring funding cycle of the Massachusetts Arts Lottery grant program and PASS grants are available for projects that will be completed between July 1 and December 31, 1990. Information and applications for both types of grants are available from Pat Nedoroscik at the Assessors' Office, Sutton Municipal Center. The deadline for applications is March 31. Fall funding cycle applications will be available September 1.

Projects will be chosen by the Sutton Arts Council, subject to state approval, on the basis of criteria such as quality, benefit to the community of Sutton, accomplishment, and financial need. The council is seeking new members to serve a two year term. Applicants for membership should have an active interest in the arts in Sutton. Write to the Council in care of the Sutton Municipal Center.

the voters of Millbury decide for themselves whether or not they want recall in their charter. There are many more questions brought to mind by this whole scenario. It is interesting to note that even the Commission's advisor, Mr. Curran, was of the understanding after the February 12 meeting that the question of recall would be resolved by the voters through a ballot question.

The opponents to recall have placed those who want a charter, but with recall of elected officials, in a quandary. In essence, they are trying to accomplish two things. First, the acceptance of the proposed charter and second, no effective control over the appointing authority, the Board of Selectmen. The real question is, will the citizens of Millbury be willing to relinquish their right to vote on 39 elected positions which will become appointed? Also, are the voters willing to give the Board of Selectmen the power to appoint some officers and the right of rejection over other appointments to be made by the proposed town manager with no effective control or recourse on the appointing authority between elections.

I subscribe fully to the precepts of the Declaration of Rights of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts which, in part, states, since the power of government is ours, and our officers derive their powers from us, they are at all times accountable to us. Also, that government is instituted for the common good. Therefore, the people alone have an incontestible, unalienable and indefeasible right to reform, alter, or totally change the same, when their protection, safety, prosperity and happiness require it. I believe that the above precepts are certainly a basis for a recall provision in any city or town charter.

In conclusion, I must state that in all true conscience, my decision is not to sign the proposed Millbury Charter. The charter, in my opinion, lacks balance without the basic control of a recall provision which would afford the voters a method to remove elected officials, if they so desired. Granted I was elected to formulate a new charter, but not a charter which, in my opinion, would diminish not enhance the participation of the citizens in their own government. I must remind all of you that unbridled power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely. Power put into the hands of the few is not, I repeat is not, government of the people, by the people and for the people. It is rather government of the few, by the few, and for the few which is not a democratic principle. Now, I rest my case. You, my fellow citizens, have the obligation to think this issue through and base your judgments upon the merits of the facts and not heresay or half-truths.

Calls for Universal Health Insurance

To the Editor

As AIDS hysteria in the U.S. slowly recedes into history, voices in the medical community are publicly suggesting there may be a financial crisis ahead. The first ostriches to take their heads out of the sand are the intellectual elite who understand the numbers and it is the non-profit radio stations that are airing their comments. No doubt it will take bodies in the streets before the media of the masses suddenly awakens and informs the public that the situation is grave. Then, and only then, will the central government act. Until then, we will hear the stories, and Joe Heller's CATCH-22 will seem a bad joke, of people who as long as they have jobs and therefore medical insurance will get the assistance they need; and of the same people who as the ravages of the diseases further weaken them and make them economically less productive, lose their jobs and their insurance and can no longer afford the assistance they need. Sheepish managers will tell less productive workers not to take their firings personally but rather to understand that it is just a business decision. Never must we forget that the business of the U.S. is business.

It seems that fighting wars is viewed as destructive by less enlightened societies. Perhaps now is the time to remind the U.S. that with few countries wiling to fight wars anymore, the resources allotted to making war machinery be used for a fight much closer to the hearts of more and more Americans. An appropriate contemporary equivalent to Ghandi's statement to the British, "You will leave, if not today, tomorrow, but in the end you will leave," is "Universal medical insurance will come to the U.S., if not today, tomorrow, but in the end it will come."

To allow people to acquire and hold jobs based on the medical benefits they receive rather than on the nature of the job itself invites abuse in the form of people holding onto jobs at any cost, inefficiencies in the labor output through people being retained by those managers with a soft heart unwilling to fire incompetent workers, and lower wages workers are willing to accept in order not to jeopardize their benefits. Everybody loses. Management loses because its workers will spend more time finding scapegoats than performing the task at hand. Workers lose by not being able to question management for fear of displeasing that management. The end product is inferior productivity. Workers will want to introduce more protectionist laws to protect their inefficient industries (jobs) from the products of those other Western societies with a more enlightened approach to the needs of their labor force.

What message is being sent to the young who are the children of the unemployed? Is this society really a free-for-all where anything resembling a social conscience, barring our need to deliver "democracy" to other places, is rapidly eroding? It would be beneficial that we ensure that the young who are the workers of tomorrow have access to all the health care possible without the price of enslaving themselves into a system where the double-barrelled threat of losing both wages and medical care exists.

Wake up, America, you have nothing to lose but your shackles.

In many areas outside the automobile industry, we see more and more American companies adopting the attitude, "If you can't beat them, join them." American Telephone & Telegraph was reported in a deal to swap technologies with Mitsubishi Electric. Intel, one of our foremost chip manufacturers, agreed to a chip marketing joint venture with NMB Semi Conductor Company. Now Advanced Micro Devices, Inc. has agreed to sell Sony a partially closed plant in exchange for which Advanced Micro engineers will work with Sony experts to become proficient in the latest Japanese chip making processes. This kind of deal is part of a plan of MITI, Japan's National Trade and Industry, to get Japanese companies to ally "to help U.S. rivals and ease trade tensions." If we believe that, we have not learned the lesson taught long ago by the Trojan Horse. As usual in these joint ventures, Sony is going to run the plant and "promises" to pass on to its partner management and technological secrets. As with other companies, Sony will get a quick U.S. manufacturing base in half the time it would take them to set up on their own and would, at the same time, be in a position to control another part of American business.

The AT&T deal with Mitsubishi is even more significant in that their cooperation will be in the production of the next generation computer chip that will speed up computer operations beyond my comprehension. These devices are called SRAM, meaning Static Random Access Memory.

While I'm sure that American Companies have much to learn from Japanese techniques, I am also amazed that we have been unable or unwilling to develop these ideas so that the Japanese would be coming to us for information, rather than us going to them for their superior techniques. Regardless of my amazement, however, this seems to be what's happening in many fields, and we are letting it happen.

At the end of WWII, a limit was placed upon Japanese military capabilities. We've now gotten to the point where General Dynamics and Mitsubishi are going to build a new fighter plane. The plane is going to be built in Japan and Mitsubishi is going to be the prime contractor. General Dynamics admits it is going to be a secondary contractor. Most of the plane is going to be designed by the Japanese, and it was only after lengthy discussion that it was finally agreed that the American people working with the Japanese could transfer the technology back to the United States. This agreement is the result of a settlement between the United States Government and the Japanese Government, even though the WWII agreement limited Japanese production. Because the Japanese wanted to build a plane, the United States Government persuaded them to accept an American partner. Apparently we didn't have the strength, back-bone or ability to counteract the Japanese decision to disregard their post-war agreement.

Aside from the military implication, certainly the development of high-tech airplanes has to be a factor in preparing for the world of the future. For us again to give up leading technology to Japan seems incomprehensible to me.

In another field, Sony has developed a new re-chargeable battery that supplies three times as much power as the best we have, and weighs less. These are the types of batteries used in lap-top computers, video cameras, cordless telephones and even electric cars.

Not neglecting the potential of the Pacific Rim, Japan has agreed to link computer systems and passenger routes with Thai Airways International. Under this arrangement, Japan will be able to use Thai routes into much of Asia and the Middle East, and by interlocking airplane usage, will gain a foothold in another part of the world.

Well, how's that for a quick summary of three days of news! Not very cheerful, is it! We just don't seem to be learning. What has happened to the competitive drive that made American free enterprise what it was 10 years ago? Have we as a society become so unfocused in our objectives that we sit idly by and let these things happen? If that is so, to whom do we look for leadership and direction? While our government is worried about borrowing Social Security funds to cure the deficit, about the savings and loan mess, about the HUD scandal, it continues to ignore its responsibility to keep America a primary world power.

To put this into perspective, extend my three days of news to 30 days of news and to 30 months of news. If we don't do something to change the direction in which we are headed, at the end of 30 years of news we will no longer have anything to worry about!

Attends Young Leaders Conference

WASHINGTON, D.C. - On Tuesday, February 20, Matthew Gardner of Millbury attended the 1990 National Young Leaders Conference sponsored by the Congressional Youth Leadership Council with approximately 400 outstanding high school juniors and seniors from around the country who were selected for this unique honor based on demonstrated academic achievement, leadership, and citizenship.

The theme of the conference was "The Leaders of Tomorrow Meeting the Leaders of Today." Throughout the six day conference, the scholars met with key leaders and newsmakers from the three branches of government, the media, and the diplomatic corps.

Culminating the National Young Leaders Conference was "The Mock Congress on National Service," in which the scholars assumed the roles of United States Representatives by debating, lobbying, and voting on proposed volunteer service legislation.

The National Young Leaders Conference is sponsored by the Congressional Youth Leadership Council. Founded in 1985, the Council is a non-profit, non-partisan educational organization committed to recognizing outstanding youth and providing them with a "hands-on" civics learning experience in the nation's capital.

Houston Announces Anti-Drug Grants

BOSTON - Senator John P. Houston (D-Worcester) has announced that the towns of Millbury, Grafton, Northboro and Westboro will receive $41,932 in federal funds to fight drugs in those communities.

"These grants show that the towns are continuing to fight the war on drugs," Houston said. "I congratulate them for their commitment to keeping drugs off the streets."

In the first and second phases of the program, the towns received funding for many anti-drug activities, including increasing the number of officers committed to drug enforcement, establishing drug hotlines, and policing specific areas with a high level of illegal drug activity.

The $41,932 for the third phase will be used to support these activities, to establish drug free school zones and to enforce the school zone law, which calls for strict penalties for those selling drugs within 1000 feet of a school.

The grants were awarded by the Massachusetts Committee on Criminal Justice as part of the federal Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988. The towns must provide a match of 25% for the total program budget.

Venincasa said that Andrew Donovan, an abutter, told him he could use land in the rear of Donovan's Pub for parking. Valentino replied that Donovan needs those spaces for his own establishment. He also said that when considering the land and parking across the street at A&D Pizza, the whole building has to be taken into consideration in determining the number of parking spaces needed and not that portion of the building that is used to sell pizza. "Otherwise he (A&D) will not have enough," Valentino said.

Venincasa said he disagreed and maintained that A&D Pizza has twice as many parking spaces as is needed.

Valentino then questioned the availability of handicap entrance and egress for the building. Venincasa said the handicap rule would be complied with.

Building Inspector Rene Morin said that plans for handicap access would have to be reviewed with Venincasa as ramps or an elevator would be needed. Venincasa said he would prefer ramps.

Board member Walter Bernier noted that the original plans submitted to Morin called for a garage and office space with two floors. "He (the building inspector) was never approached by the corporation to suggest they wanted to go for additional space," Bernier said. He then remarked that Venincasa should have realized a permit was needed for the additional space he was adding. "You people make a living at building," Bernier said. "You should be more familiar as to how you can go. The shell was built from the ground up. You did not follow the original plans."

Venincasa replied that the plans were followed with respect to the height. "The other came up without the right sequence," he agreed. "It's wrong, but it happens in town," he said.

Lewandowski said she had concerns with fire equipment being able to gain access to the rear of the building. She noted that it was stated at the last meeting that parking occurred along the entrance way which would not leave an open lane. "Also," she said, "I thought the Conservation Commission was to be brought in on this because in order to gain required parking spaces, an area had to be paved."

"She is correct," Venincasa said. "If we are successful we will be going to the Planning Board and to the Conservation Committee for review."

Board Member William Moore noted that the board had nothing in writing concerning the leased parking. Venincasa said he had verbal approval.

"Is the gentleman here?" Moore asked. "No," Venincasa replied.

Venincasa then said, "It is my interpretation that the question is, are the four one bedroom apartments a detriment to the area."

"I also want to know if there are enough parking spaces down back," Moore said. "Renters should have their own designated parking spaces." Venincasa agreed that was an important issue which could be a condition of acceptance.

Valentino then closed the public hearing on a 5-0 vote. The board then proceeded to review the issues.

Valentino said the only way he could approve the petition was to go back to the original agreement.

"I don't object to the addition as long as they follow codes and regulations," Moore said.

"There is no way they can meet these requirements," Valentino replied.

"If they can," said Moore, "I don't object to the addition."

"This is similar to what happened not long ago," Bernier remarked. "They (builders) all seem to have the same attitude: 'We will stick up what we want and sit back and see what they (town boards) are going to do about it.'"

"I don't condone it," Moore replied. "It's up there. The question is, they are here to see if they can get a variance."

"Two rights don't make a wrong," Valentino said.

"I can't see awarding a variance under these conditions," Bernier said.

Moore said the builder would still have to meet the conditions of other boards if the ZBA were to give him a variance.

Board member Cheryl Hennigan noted that Venincasa had not supplied much more information than was available at the last meeting.

"It's hearsay as far as additional parking," Moore said.

"I cannot honestly vote on this the way it is," Hennigan said. "Everything is maybe; it's not enough. A lot of justifications for a special permit are not met."

Venincasa said he would bring in more information if he was given an extension.

Board member Billy Martin said he did not see a hardship, or if there was one it was created by Venincasa himself. "I don't believe you are meeting all the criteria," he said.

Venincasa then said, "I don't have counsel here with me. If it is not a detriment to the neighborhood, it is usually granted."

Martin replied, "Parking will be (a detriment)."

Moore said it could be hazardous if fire trucks are unable to access the back of the building.

"If parking is a big item, I'll ask for an extension to rectify it to ease the minds of the board," Venincasa replied.

Valentino asked board members if they wanted to give Venincasa more time.

Moore said that since the public hearing was closed, additional information would not get into the record. "Is there any additional information?" he asked.

Valentino replied, "As far as parking goes, he is not going to get any from anyone, Donovan or A&D Pizza."

"I think I can," Venincasa replied. "I would like a chance to rebut you."

Valentino said he didn't need any more time to make a decision.

Moore asked if anyone else needed more information or time. "It would be hard to make a decision on what we have," he said.

Hennigan said she thought documentation on parking spaces needed per square foot would be helpful.

"I can't see any reason to go any further," Bernier said.

"Am I the only one that needs it (more information)?" Moore asked.

"Basically I see the same thing (the need for more information)," Hennigan replied.

"What now," Valentino asked.

"Two need more time; three don't. Majority rules on a special permit or a variance. I can't see waiting another month," he said. "It would not change anything." He then asked for a motion.

Moore moved to give Venincasa extended time to get more information. Hennigan seconded the motion. The motion was defeated 3-2.

Bernier then moved to deny a special permit. Valentino asked for what reason. "He does not have adequate parking," Bernier replied.

"If he got parking straightened out, I would vote for it," Moore said.

The vote was 3-2 to deny the special permit with Moore and Hennigan opposed.
